How to apply to the medical degree program iMED at the Faculty of Medicine, Universität Hamburg

Depending on your study phase and whether you want to transfer to Universität Hamburg or stay as a freemover guest student at Universität Hamburg, you have different options for applying to the medical degree program iMED.

We do not offer Bachelor/Master degrees. The medical degree in Germany concludes with state examinations after 6 years. Furthermore, Universität Hamburg introduced a new medical curriculum in 2012 which differs a lot from the traditional curriculum in Germany. After transferring to Universität Hamburg, your study period is likely to increase.

The language of study is German.

Winter semester: 01/10/2022-31/03/2023; summer semester: 01/04-30/09/2023

Application to transfer to the Faculty of Medicine, Universität Hamburg

You want to continue your medical studies and graduate at Universität Hamburg?

➔ Please apply to the medical degree program iMED through the application procedures of Universität Hamburg.

Application for the first study phase

If you are in your first study phase (pre-clinical) or if you are planning to study medicine, you can only apply as a first-year student for the medical degree program. Once you are enrolled, you can check whether your academic achievements can be recognized. Medical students at Universität Hamburg conclude the first study phase after semester 5.

Application period: 1 June to 15 July for the winter semester. Start is only possible in the winter semester.
